Washington, June 22.

Preparations have been commenced for mustering out between 45,000 and 50 000 troops from the armies of Generals Meade, Hangock, and Logan. About 18,000 of these (effective), whose terms of service first expire, will be mustered from the Army of the Potomac by regimental organization. All absentees belonging to such regiments will be in addition to this number, and may swell it to 20,000. Hancock's veteran command will be reduced to 7,000. The Army of the Tenueseec will lose fully 15 000.

The Army of the Tenuessee will lose fully 15 000.

General Grant and part of his staff left here this afternoon, by special cars, for Pulladelphia, and expect to be absent two or three days.

The General's report will not be completed as early as stated, and is not likely to be delivered to the War Department till near the commencement of the next Congressional seasion, unless specially called for hy some extgency.

There will probably be some considerable delay in the appointment of a provisional Governor for South Carolina. The delegation have so not all represent the Unionists of the State. Hon. F. M. Stanton, Secretary of War:
Sin: I have just received the Army and Navy Gezette, of May 30th, containing an ffi ial publication of Major General Sherman's letters of May 5th and 26th, with other papers on the same endject, parts of which had been previousis published in the newspapers. In these letters and papers, General Sherman has made statements and reflections on my official conduct, which are heorytect and entirely injustitied by the facts of the case:

1. He charges that I encroached upon his military command be directing a portion of my troops to march upon Greensboro, in North Cardina. By direction of the President, I was, on the 19th of April last, assigned to the comunerd of the Military Division of the James, which included each parts of North Cardina as were not occupied by the command of MajorGeneral Sherman. At the time my troops were ordered to Greensboro, General Sherman's treops did not occupy that part of North Carcilina. It was occupied by the enemy, and, consequently, within my command, and defined by General Order, No. 71, of the War Department.

sective trainies. Georral Sheeman had never seen its and did not know its terms or condition. I only knew that his truce or arrangement, whatever it was, had been disapproved and set aside by the movement of my troops, simply notified me of this fact and of the renewal of hostilities.

4 The borden of General Sberman's complaint on this subject is, that I ordered Generals Sheridan and Wright to push forward their troops as directed by Grant, regardless of any orders from any one except General Grant. This was simply carrying out the spirit of my instructions from General Grant. He had notified me that orders had been given to resume hostilities and had directed me to send certain troops to Greensboro to await his further orders. As these troops approached the boundaries of North Carolina, Johnston, Beangard, and other rebel officers, tried, on the alleged grounds, arrangements with Sherman, to stop the movement ordered by General Grant. When informed of this, I directed my officers to except the commands which General Grant had given to me regardless of orders from any one except General Grant himself. I respectfully submit that I could not have done less without neglecling my duty.

5. General Sherman sneers at my sending troops from the direction of Barkesville and Dauxille against Davis in North Carolina as hardly worthy of my military education and genins. However ridiculous General Sherman may consider these movements, they were made precisely as General Grant had directed them.

6. He complains that I did not no liv him for regard to Davis and his atolen treasure—for the reason that I had no comminication open to him. My most direct way of communications with him was through the Department in Washington, and I sent all information to the Department as soon as it was received. However the respectable and trustworthy business men in Bichmond, through a gentieman whose character and position would prevent me from pronouncing his statements abourd, and of sayling, without examination, I don't believe a word of the treasure story.

7. In order to sustain his position that all the movements of my troops ordered by General

THE THEATMENT OF THE SOUTHERN LEADERS.
[Uron the London Times ]

The intelligence of the capture of Mr. Jeffer son Davis will produce a feeling of unexinosa and anxiety in every country in Europe. We had hoped, and we seemed to have good reason to hoje that, either through the skill of his own dispositions, or by the wise countwance of his cemeiles, Mr. Davis would have effected his escape from the land where he has played his stake so boldly and lost it so completely. The hopes of the South are evidently crushed beyond all chance of redemption, and it would have been a wise as well as a maggazulmous policy to suffer its leaders to escape. To a politic and generous conqueror there is nothing more embarressing than the capture of a vanquished enemy; it is one of those positions which he would anxie usly endeavor to avoid. A long experience has taught Furope at least this lesson. When William of Orange found that King James had returned from Feversham, he desermined, if possible to escape the difficulties which would arise if he were e-upselled to make him prisoner, and took very good cure to do nothing which night serionsly tend to his arrest until he knew he was completely cut of danger. The toops were mostly selected by General Grant, not by my; and, as he had commanded them for a year, he probably knew something of their calcality for marching—whether or not they would 'march their legs off to eath the treasure for their own use."

3. Again, General Sherman complains that my orders of April 26 to pash forward against Johnston's army, were given at the very time their that army was currendering to him. In making this statement, he forgets time and circumstances. He must have known that I did not have, and could not possibly have had, at that time, any official information of any new arrangements between him and Johnston, for the surrender of the latter's army, neither General Sherman nor any one else could have sent me such official information of the my the continually talked of the guilt of treason, and we feer he has determined to conciliate the extreme party of his supporters at whatever expense of policy or of merey. My Dear Sur I congratulate you on having fixed your name in history as the first Free Sule Governor of Louisiana. Now you are about to have a convention which, among other things will probably define the elective featchies. I barely suggest for your private consideration whether some of the colored people may not be let in, as for instance, the very intelligent, especially those who have fought gallartly in our ranks. They would probably help in some trying time to come to keep the germ of liberty in the family of freedom, but this is only a suggestion not to the public but to you alone. Truly yours, A. LINGOLN.

Too much praise cannot be bestowed on the faithful and prompt manner in which he has discharged his duties. He has not allowed a single poet in his district to be out of funds since he has been in charge. He always had a kind word for every soldier who came for his pay, and if his papers were not right he had them amended, and took a personal interest that justice was done in each case. Even if Sherman's trace had been binding on me, which it was not. I had no knowledge of the cleuse relating to the forty-eight hours' no tice. It is strange that he should seek to blad me by cendutions of the existence of which I was ignorant and of which he had taken no measure to inform me; but had I known them I could not have acted otherwise than I did. I simply carried out the orders of my superior officer, who had eeen the truce and knew the terms. If Gen Sherman was, under the electromstances, instified in stopping the movements of my troops, even by destroying the commands of Gen Sheridan and Gen Wright, the responsibility of this sacrifice of human life must have rested either upon Gen. Sherman or Gen. Grant, for I simply obeyed the order of the latter in regard to these movements. Gen. Sherman reflects on me for not going in person to violate, as he pleased to call it, a truce which he "was bound in honor to defend and maintain even at the cost of many lives," and upon the marching powers of the troops which least that North

KNONVILLE, TENN., June 4, 1865.

Hen. F. M. Stanton, Secretary of War:
Size—I have just seen in print the letter of Gen. Sherman to Lt. Gen. Grant, of April 28, and in which appears the following words: "Mr.
Statton, in Staffing that my orders to Gen. Stoneman were to result in the escape of Jeff Davis to Mexico or Europe, is in deep error. Stoneman was not at Salisbury, but had gone back to Statesville. Davis was beyond him: by turning toward me he was approaching Davis, and had be joined me as ordered. I would have had a monuted force, greatly needed for that andother purposes," &c. Gen Sherman, directly, and by implication, in these remarks and assertions
does me great injustice, and makes assertions
does me great injustice, and makes assertions without a knowledge of circumstances, and which are not borne out by facts. Gen. Thomas has assured yon that I obeyed orders strictly, and I consider it a duty I owe to myself to state that I am ready to prove and show, I think, to vom satisfaction—first, that had I obeyed Gen.
Sherman's orders, Davis would in all probability have escaped.

2. That had not Sherman's orders, proclaiming that peace had been restored from the Potomac to the Rio Grande, been received when they were, Davis would most likely have been captured by my cavalary in April, such was the disposition I had made of the command for that and other purposes.

3. That had I not afterward, by direction, KNONVILLE, TUNN., June 1, 1865.

THE INTEREST OF NON SLAVEHOLDERS ENTUCKY .- The peculiar interests of slavery are thoroughly hostile to the interests of the free white laborers of this State, and yet the slaveholders who, according to our Anditor report of 1864, number t t 36,140 agains so ST non-slaveholders (according to the con sus o' 1860), have always erjoyed singular ad vantages for their peuliar property unde the and again, in pursuance of very obvious facand in cord nee with the views of Mr. Car as expressed by him on the su' ject in 1×19, that the material wealth of Kentucky would be im neasurably advanced by the substitution of the se of free labor for that of slavery. By such change the great and varied resources of 'h commonwealth would be far m re rapidle deeloped, and a degree of prospelty would be realized as yet unknown to our people. An werwhelming majority of our population are n-elaveholding, and yet the wealth of the State has been chiefly confined to the compar: tively few slaveholders. This significant fact icounted for by a contemporary who very truly says, that in every slave State on this con-tinent the rich lands have been worked by ne-

This is supremely the case in Kentneky. The ich lands of the Bluegrass regions and the fine obacco lands of Sonthern Kentneky are almost together worked by slaves. So true is this that a man need do no more to find out the quality of the soll of a particular State than to take the census of the county and see how many slaves there are in it. The poor white men, being excluded from these productive soils, are delven into the poorer regions of the ountry, where the thin soil yields but a poor eturn to their labor, and are there compelied etrive for a scanty subsistence. Add this other fact als: Where slavery abounds, many PRATHER & SMITH. of the mechanical departments of labor were bricklayers, stenemasons, &c. Slaveholders referred owning such skilled labor to hiring it. This poor white men were excluded from this Military Hats. also. Now free the negroes; turn loose there slaves who are mono polizing the labor upon the rich lands of the State, and are filling no many of the mechanical professions, and let them compete for such labor with the white man, and who will be benefited thereby? Is it of easy to see that the white iaborer would have opportunities of getting good employ ment, that he has not now? Most certainly he with the en, erior intell gence of the waite man the thing is perfe thy ridiculous. As long as avery exists, this competition does not and cannot exist, for the simile reason that the hite man has no chance. His labor is not in demand, and his services are everywhere made to yield to those of the slave. Free the negro, emt loyers ont of ten would hire him in preference to the negro. Black slave labor is some de cheaper than free white labor; but black fee labor is not near so cheap, for the reason that the white man is more industrious and

Then away with the argument that the freeing of the negroes will injure the poor white man. It will do no such thing. It will not only benefit him by throwing open to him fields iabor which he has not had heretofore, but to a great and lamentable extent the it will also benefit him by taking away from ry of the State. As the election does not horest labor the stigma which slavery has put upon it. There is nothing more honorable than re, wil then have been done and be past work. presume truly, by the Philadelphia Gazette, that before some Provost Marshal, and troops are to be forthwith sent home and mustroops are to be forthwith sent home and musmostly from the Western and Southwestern departments. As regards the first discharge, now about completed, a despatch from Washington tells us that one hundred and fifty thousand men have been sent home from that city, and to the sad tendency of the course which this, with the number now about to be mustered out, will aggregate three hundred and fifty thousand men returned to their homes in all parts of the South, some two hundred thousand men, we shall have a total of five hundred and fifty thousand. But this is not all. We had in our custody some sixty thousand ebel prisoners, all of whom are in process of discharge and transportation home. At the ov et estimate, the number of Union prisoners n the South, who have been returned to their nomes during the last three months cannot have been less than twenty thousand, so that some eighty thousand prisoners, North and South, are to be added to the aggregate, which hus reaches six hundred and thirty thousand

We regret that we have no means of estimaing the number of men discharged from areesale, navv-varde, Government work-shops and lepots; the number of teamsters and other cilians released from the service in the Quarterpaster's Department of the forces in the field: be clerks discharged from Government offices: the number of men descharged from the naval Cordage and Belting, essels now out of commission, and the swarms of officers who, since the termination of the war, o devote their attention to civil pursuits. Taking both sides in the late conflict, a million will hardly cover the number of men already eturned to their homes or thrown upon the cuntry for support who have lately been making a living upon the operation of the war Large as the aggregate seems, a careful examination of the facts will show that it is no exag-

Where the loss has been so terrible these men will be valuable additions to the Southern or ulation, provided their leaders are not alcwed to get them astrav ag in, as they are iving to do in some quarters. Many who were unused to work before the war have been milliarized with it by sad necessity. They go bome wiser than they were. They have learned much of the Northern people they never knew refere, and having tested the value of s ch re sources as onre, they will go home impressed with the overpowering need of improvement at

As regards or own men who are sent home y the return of peace, we do not entertain ch apprehensions respecting them as some do. In the course of the war we have seen many re turned soidiers quietly pursning their old avoapplication as ever, and there is hardly a large establishment in the city that has not some one who has seen service in this conflict. Some temporary troubles there will be, and the sharks. always ready to prey upon the soldier or sallor, will soon impoverish some of them. But for the general mass their old habits of industry will return, and we are inclined to think that they will bear as honorable a record in peace as they have done in war. Most of them ask no charity, no benevelent aid, only steady empio mest. The Democrat cays we "belong to the ame party yet "that we always belonged to. If this is so, why does it keep on reiterating every day, or three or four times a day, that we have changed? We are afraid our neighbor has lost his spectacles, or is losing his wits.

Where is the Journal, Bramlette, & Co? Well, they is right here in Kentucky, trying heir test to stop this negro agitation business and to put a damper upon all agitators like the Democrat—they is.
